Starting points

Delegation of the European Union to Canada: Press Releases are relevant to the broader European community or more specifically to EU-Canada relations.

Mission of Canada to the European Union: Media Room features government-issued press releases on Canada-EU relations, with links to relevant official departments and ministries.

The European Commission maintains an index of documents and publications dealing with bilateral relations, trade agreements, and dispute settlements between Canada and the EU, while the European Union’s External Action Service (EEAS) also provides updates on Canada-EU relations.

The Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada page on Canada-European Union: Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) Negotiations contains information, press releases, and reports on past and ongoing discussions for a new trade agenda. In March 2009 Canada and the EU published a joint report entitled Canada-European Union: negotiations toward a comprehensive economic partnership agreement – last modified: 13.04.2012 (see Press Release, No.60, 05.03.2009). Since then the negotiations have been concluded, the Technical Summary outlines the basic details (see Press Release, 08.11.2013)

The Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives has published reports and studies more critical of Canada-EU relations and trade developments, including Out of Equilibrium: The Impact of EU-Canada Free Trade on the Real Economy (October 2010, see also News Release).
- Tar Sands and the CETA (14.10.2011)

The Strategic Knowledge Cluster: Canada-Europe Transatlantic Dialogue publishes commentaries on recent developments in EU-Canada relations. Recent titles include:
- Europe 2020 Strategy and its Implications for Canada (05.12.2012)

Council of Canadians and Inuit Tapiriit Kanatami media releases on Canada-EU relations include the perspective of First Nations groups in Canada:
